MONTPELIER

Major Stephen Cushing has gone to his home in St. Albans for the rest of the week.

The heavy shower which appeared in other sections of the county did not touch Montpelier Thursday afternoon. Railroad men coming here from Richmond way in the evening reported a heavy storm in that section of the state.

James Barrett went to Richmond last evening to attend the funeral of Dr. J. O. Murphy, his brother-in-law, who died of septic poisoning. Dr. Murphy was a member of the medical corps of the regular army.

Rawson Myrick has resumed his duties in the secretary of state's office. His daughter is recovering from infantile paralysis.

Miss Alice Blanchard, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blanchard, went back to her work as librarian in East Orange, N. J., last evening.

NEW JERSEY NOT TO BLAME.

According to Statement Issued by Gov. Edge of That State.

Seagirt, N. J., July 20.—Governor Edge gave out the following statement last night in reference to the draft registration cards for New Jersey.

"The report that New Jersey's cards were numbered contrary to instructions is perfectly ridiculous. On our attention being drawn to this matter I personally telephoned to the provost-marshal's office in Washington and received positive denial that such was the fact or that any such inference had been given out."

"On the contrary, New Jersey's cards have been in Washington complete for ten days and were prepared absolutely in accordance with the instructions issued by their office."

FORBIDDEN TO VISIT VERMONT.

Plattsburg Garrison and Training Camp Kept Away by Fear of Poliomylitis.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 20.—Because of the prevalence of infantile paralysis in some sections of Vermont, an order was issued here yesterday by Lieut.-Col. Wolf, camp commander, forbidding members of the garrison or training camp from visiting that state without permission. Vermont health officers report there are about 80 cases of the disease in the state.

Mayor Mitchell of New York arrived at the camp of the New York field artillery last night and is a guest of Col. M. H. Smith. He will review the regiment this afternoon, and later will go to the training camp to witness the first dress parade of the student officers.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Visit Abbott's bargain basement. Anthony Poli of Bridgeport, Conn., is visiting friends in town for a few days. Edward Brown left this morning for Manchester, N. H., where he will visit with friends for a week.

A big stock of oxfords and pumps at the People's Shoe Store, from which to select your sizes at low prices.

Miss Tret Larkin of Northfield returned home last evening after having spent a few days in town with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Milton of Maple avenue, who were recently married, left yesterday for St. Louis, where they are to make their home.

Gus Martinson of New York, a salesman for Johnson & Gustafson, is staying at Hotel Barre while here on a business visit of several days.

Mrs. Mark Cutler returned this morning to her home on Jefferson street after having visited with friends in Piermont, N. H., during the past two weeks.

Ladies and gentlemen should take advantage of the opportunity to secure oxfords and pumps at the liberal discount offered by the People's Shoe Store.

Miss Etta Ricker, who acted as bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Helen V. Crevier and Private William A. Carroll in Burlington yesterday, has returned to the city.

J. E. Piddock of Saxtons River, who attended a meeting of the state Republican committee in Burlington this week, called on friends in the city while on his way home yesterday.

Among the business visitors in town yesterday were: Miss M. E. Beckley of Groton, Leslie MacIver of Graniteville, Mrs. D. H. Gilman of Chelsea and Mrs. Richard Sealey of Westerville.

The Barre Spiritualist society will hold meetings at their temple, South Barre, Saturday evening at 7:30 and Sunday at 3 and 7:30 p. m., July 21 and 22. Rev. Effie I. Webster will lecture and give messages at each session. All invited.

Miss Evangeline Maker pleasantly entertained several of her friends at her home last evening on Upland avenue at a lawn party. The evening was passed by playing games, and refreshments of punch and wafers were served during the evening.

Retail monument dealers staying at Hotel Barre while here for business visits of varying length in the Barre granite district include the following: B. F. Colvin of Fremont, O., A. H. Johnson of Meyersdale, Pa., and A. H. George of Dixon, Ill.

Carl Huse of South Barre is detained from his duties at the Trow & Holden machine shop for a few days, having received a painful injury to one eye on Wednesday, when pouring molten lead, a drop of that fluid being splashed into his eye.

Clement McMahon of West street left yesterday for Plymouth, Mass., where he is to remain for several weeks as the guest of his uncle, D. J. Marshall. His three sisters, Dorothy, Natalie and Cecile, have gone to Bromptonville, P. Q., there to remain for a time in the family of D. McMahon.

S. Felier, who is employed by Gearson & Lane in Burnham's meadow, left yesterday for Greensboro, where he will superintend the harvesting of a hay crop on the farm of his brother-in-law. Early in the week Mr. Felier was advised that his relative had sustained an accident which would prevent him from partaking in the harvest.

Within a few days motorists will be privileged to travel over one of the best stretches of Telford road to be found in Vermont as the result of an appropriation made by the town fathers of Berlin and matched in turn by the state highway department. The new highway is located on the Montpelier road, so called, north of the greenhouses, and has been building for several weeks under the direction of J. C. DeBrune, former superintendent of streets in Barre. Unusually adverse conditions were encountered by the road builders, but an effective drainage system was used with the result that much water has been drawn from the roadbed and the work of extending the new highway north a distance of 950 feet has gone on without interruption. The scarcity of men and teams has not served to delay progress and Supt. DeBrune to-day expressed his belief that the road will be completed early next week. Much Barre granite has figured in the construction of the Telford road.

Unbusiness exists among local committees preparing for two big conventions to be held in Barre late in August and unless the restrictions growing out of the infantile paralysis cases in Washington county are abated materially it is regarded as quite probable that present plans will have to be greatly revamped. Universalists of Vermont and the Province of Quebec are scheduled to gather here toward the end of the month, but it is a foregone conclusion that the convention will be held in some other city if the malady in this section is not eradicated within a few weeks. Of more importance in many ways is the national convention of cemetery superintendents, which is expected to bring 500 visitors to Barre from all over the United States. Thus far the Barre Entertainment association, which is completing plans for the big affair, has not slackened its efforts to make the convention a big success and until definite information that the convention as a public gathering will be banned, the committeemen are to continue their work.

Regular communication of Granite lodge, No. 35, F. and A. M., Friday, July 20, at 7:30 p. m. Per order W. M.

Special meeting of Barre lodge, 1,573, F. O. E., Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Every member requested to be present. Important business.

Neighbors, Sven H. Lindquist, was awakened by the shot and ran out to investigate. He saw two men near the shed and, thinking one might be Mr. Finn, ran toward them, but the pair turned and ran. A few steps more and Mr. Lindquist stumbled over the body of Mr. Finn, who was lying in a pool of blood near the shed. Lindquist took the dying man into his house and telephoned for a doctor. Finn was unable to talk and died in about five minutes. Dr. Paul A. Bruce of Atlantic arrived a few minutes later and pronounced life extinct from a wound in the breast.

Mr. Finn was a pipefitter in the Charlestown navy yard. He had lived in Squantum for six years and previously resided in Forest Hills and South Boston. He served with Co. I, 9th regiment, in the 15th U. S. cavalry in the Spanish-American war. He is survived by his wife, his daughter, Viola, and an 18-year-old son, Ammon.

Mr. Finn's mother, Mrs. Mary Finn of 625 East 7th street, South Boston, and four brothers, Joseph, a letter carrier of Uphams Corner, Thomas, a mounted policeman of division 16; Joseph of Randolph and Morris, who lives with his mother in South Boston, also survive.

The police have no theory other than that the two men were in the act of stealing the dogs and shot at Mr. Finn when discovered.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Sibley Young returned yesterday from Worcester, where he has been visiting for a few days.

You will find a good assortment of small sizes in pumps for $1.98 at the People's Shoe Store.

For the first time this summer hot weather added its discomfort to the daily stint of the stonecutter and while the heat did not have the effect of shutting down more than a few plaits, many workmen throughout the district did not handle their hammers at all. Not in several years has extremely hot weather been postponed so long and manufacturers, most of whom are up to their ears in business, are congratulating themselves that suspensions have not been necessary. To-day the temperature approached 90 degrees, but did not attain that mark, and a cooling breeze that bore down from the curtain of hills to the westward made most people forget the summery conditions. The humidity was greater yesterday than to-day, and frequent thunder showers in this vicinity did not seem to clear the atmosphere.

A WARTIME ROMANCE.

Barre Girl the Bride of a Barre Soldier at the Port.

A wartime romance with two Barre people as the principals culminated in a wedding in Burlington yesterday when Miss Helen Virginia Crevier, a waitress employed at Hotel Barre, and William A. Carroll, formerly employed as a clerk by the F. D. Ladd Co., and at present a member of H company in the 1st Vermont regiment, were married at the Roman Catholic cathedral by Rev. J. F. Gillis, the rector. The ceremony was performed at noon and the couple were attended by Miss Etta Ricker of this city, who works with the bride at Hotel Barre, and Private Henry Crevier, who is stationed at Fort Ethan Allen.

Bride and groom formed an acquaintance some months ago and before Private Carroll was called to the colors friends of the couple were aware that their mutual esteem had ripened into affection. They were not aware that the wedding was about to take place, however, and yesterday morning when the prospective bride and Miss Ricker left the city for a day in Burlington all of their plans were not announced. Mrs. Carroll is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crevier of Montpelier. While her husband is in the service she will continue her duties at Hotel Barre.

BATTLE ACROSS THE RIVER.

No American Casualties, But Some Mexicans Fell.

Mission, Tex., July 20.—Approximately five hundred shots were exchanged across the Rio Grande yesterday at Ojo de Agua, eight miles southwest of Mission, between a small American border patrol, and a number of unidentified Mexicans. There were no American casualties, but latest reports say two or three Mexicans were seen to fall during the engagement, which started at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and ceased at 5 o'clock when the Mexicans withdrew.

The Oldsmobile Six

THE justification of the Oldsmobile Model 37, six-cylinder motor car, is found in the growing interest of the public in a light six-cylinder car possessing the refinements and luxurious appointments of higher priced cars. The market seems over-crowded with cheap six-cylinder cars.

The new Oldsmobile Six, without question, satisfies the purchaser who is seeking unusual performance, economy in upkeep and fuel consumption, and withal, the elegance of those details usually associated only with cars of high price.

The smooth-running Oldsmobile motor, with all working parts enclosed, develops 40 h. p. plus. This clean, handsome motor is an inspiration to the owner who likes to exhibit a beautiful power-plant.

Walnut dash with nickel-finished instruments; buttonless upholstery of high-grade, long-grain, bright-finished leather; combination tonneau and step light; side curtains that open with the doors. These appointments and many other refinements stamp this car as representative of the utmost in light car construction.

Two types—a roomy five-passenger touring car, and a two-passenger roadster with convertible rear compartment containing a leather-upholstered seat for two extra passengers.
